13 e-mails from potential customers or customers
14 asking about particular guns or what they need to 15 do to purchase particular guns. Do you know how 16 these were assembled or where they came from?

17 A Yes. These e-mails were on, came in to us
18 I -- on my computer through Microsoft Outlook that 19 were queries that we had from customers that came 20 in to both sales@atlanticguns.com and

6 Q So these are all the e-mails that were

2 It's a collectible firearm that the state would

5 excluded as -- I guess the state considers it to
6 be a firearm that has special collectible value,
7 and they don't, they don't require an HQL to
8 purchase it, it's in the law, because oftentimes a
9 C&R type of firearm is one that's never really
10 designed to be shot. It's more of a collector
11 piece. It's just one of the exclusions in the law
12 that allows the transfer of specific types of 13 handguns to be transferred without having to have 14 an HQL. Primarily it would be a gun that's over
15 50 years old or one that has particular collector

Hello,

I am a MD resident that has bought guns from you in the past and am looking to make another purchase. I do not have a HQL liscence. I had heard that a HQL was not needed for C&R items. Is that true? I have been looking into P64's. I just wanted to see if I would be able to purchase one and if they do qualify for C&R.

thank you,

We recommend Gilbert Indoor Range in Rockville (301.315.0300) or Maryland Small Arms in Upper Marlboro (1.800.792.6434) for Training and American Identity Solutions (240.670.7952) for finger printing.

Give these places a call and they will go over what you'll need for their course.

As an active duty member of the military, you do not need a Maryland HQL (purchase permit) for handguns. Your military ID and orders exempt you. However, there is a 1 week waiting period on all handgun purchases. The same ID's are required for long guns, but there is no waiting period upon approval.

Thank you for your order.

This shouldn't be an issue. As long as you have your MD HQL and the gun is being registered in your name with the State and Federal background check you will be fine.

Hi [REDACTED]

Congratulations on receiving your HQL. Our web site does show some firearms listed as Maryland restricted and this usually pertains to the magazine capacity. Maryland law restricts capacity to 10 rounds. You can purchase either of these pistols on our web and they will be delivered to you with a 10 round magazine.

If you wish to place your order on line just specify which of our store locations you want to pick it up at. We will call you to come in and complete the application process. Just bring in your HQL and MD driver's license.

[REDACTED], we hope to see you soon!

To whom it may concern:

I am interested in purchasing either the H&K VP9 9mm or the S&W M&P9 Pro 9mm but your online catalog said "RESTRICTED in MARYLAND" for both choice of pistols. Does that mean I am not allowed to purchase it? What is the requirement to purchase these pistols?

I have recently received my Maryland HQL. I would like to get either of these pistols to prequalify for my upcoming NRA Instructor Certification class and also to enter competitions.

Please advise as to how I can purchase this pistols, requirements, etc. and what are my options if I am not allowed to. This would be my first purchase using my Maryland HQL.

Thank you very much.

Hello [REDACTED]

You will need to get the MD HQL (Handgun Qualification License) first, and then transfer the handgun from the estate to yourself, at a licensed dealer. Please call or come in to the store to get instructions on the HQL process.

There are many good starter handguns I can recommend. I think the best thing for you to do is to come in and handle some guns to see what you would like. We can help you with the HQL at that time. I look forward to working with you.

I was hoping y'all could help answer a question for me. I just inherited a handgun and Maryland law isn't clear to me. Is it just mine, or do I have to transfer it through an FFL. If I have to go through an FFL like yourself, what paperwork if any is needed?

Also I've only used rifles/shotguns, and would like to get a handgun for learning before I use the nice one I've inherited. Any recommendations? I'm thinking a 22 would be a good start?

Subject: Purchase # 60010924761

Hi Steve,

I just made a purchase of a Remington 1911 R1 over the internet from Atlantic Guns, Silver Spring. I am a Maryland Resident with a valid HQL. I know I must have some other MSPD items that I need to fill out to validate this purchase. Can you guide me in that regard?

Thanks for your assistance.

Hello [REDACTED]

No worries, Smith makes a lot of cool options. Just so you know, we have a S&W sale coming up April 21st and 22nd (Fri/Sat). If you are on our mailing list, you will see a flyer sent out next month, but I figured I would let you know in advance since you are on a S&W kick. Let me know if there is anything you want me to order in for the sale!

Regards,

Hello [REDACTED]

I apologize for the delay. We do not have that gun in stock, but I can order it for $1318. It does appear to be readily available from any of my suppliers, but I can backorder it for you and call you when it arrives.
Are you still interested?

Hi There,

I'm in the 30 day waiting period after I completed my HQL. I'm interested in eventually purchasing this firearm:

Smith & Wesson M&P R8, 357 Mag, 5" Performance Center, Black, Tactical Rail

1. Do you have this in stock? Competitive pricing?
2. If not, do I simply buy online and have it shipped to you?
3. Added fees?

HQL_0003595

Basically just looking for information about the purchase process.

Many Thanks,
